A close-up photograph of a vertical wooden post, possibly a door handle or a decorative element, set against a wall with a decorative, carved pattern. The post is light-colored wood, showing some texture and a small dark spot. The wall behind it has a repeating pattern of stylized, interlocking shapes, possibly a traditional motif. The lighting is bright, casting shadows that emphasize the textures.

これはチョーキングといって、紫外線や熱、水分で塗膜が劣化して、顔料が白く粉状になる事をいいます
